

Famous "Pink of Cough Syrup" Receipt

No Better Remedy at Any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and 1/2 pint of water and stir for two minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of 62. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold instantly, and will usually stop the most distressing cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just effective enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, throat tickle, sore lungs and asthma, and an unequal remedy for whooping cough and croup.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is a prime favorite in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in ginseng and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this recipe. A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or we'll get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

At The Theater

"KINDLING"

Sarah Padden, the interesting young actress who is to appear here Monday, February 24, at the Grand Opera house, matinee and night, in Charles Kenyon's play of the day, "Kindling," began her stage career less than a decade ago. Oddly enough, she had never been in a theater until she made her appearance on the stage. Miss Padden is the protegee of the widely known Chicago priest, the Rev. Fr. Maurice J. Dorney, pastor of St. Gabriel's church. Father Dorney had intended that Miss Padden should become a teacher in his parochial school. To that end he arranged for her to attend a school of education. Later, at the suggestion of the Mother Superior, he went to see Will J. Davis, the manager of the Illinois theater, in

Burns' Wednesday evening. March 12 has already created the greatest possible local interest and it is certain that his appearance here will be an event of extraordinary importance from a social and educational viewpoint. The following clippings give a few impressions of his lectures in the east have made:

Capt. Roald Amundsen told his story of the south pole discovery for the first time to Chicago people last night. Orchestra hall, where the explorer delivered his lecture, was packed. Several hundred were turned away.

It was believed that practical experience would be of value in her work as a teacher. Mr. Davis found employment for the girl in the company of Otis Skinner. Three years later, because of the illness of Laura Hope Crews, Miss Padden became Mr. Skinner's leading woman in the play, "The Honor of the Family." Her work here attracted the attention of the late Henry B. Harris, who specially engaged her for the role of Annie Jeffries in the Charles Klein play, "The Third Degree." Miss Padden's triumphs in this part are a matter of theatrical history. She was greeted by enormous audiences in all parts of the country, and pronounced by newspapers and public a "second Mrs. Fiske." It is interesting to note that Miss Padden appeared as Annie Jeffries more than 700 times.

In "Kindling," the young actress has a particularly congenial role. By temperament and type she is admirably suited to Maggie Schultz. More than that, she loves the part, an essential requisite for really convincing work.

At the conclusion of the present tour Miss Padden will go to Australia, appearing in a repertoire of three plays two of which will be "Kindling" and "The Third Degree." The remaining play for the tour is "The Girl in the Red Velvet Gown," which has not been decided upon, but it is more than likely will be "Merely Mary Ann," the appealing Ziegfeld drama in which Eleanor Hobson achieved considerable success.

MADERO, TAKEN PRISONER, FORCED TO RESIGN; HUERTA A NEW PRESIDENT

Captured by Own Troops While in Hall of Ambassadors; Given Alternative of Resigning or Leaving One of First Ships to Sail for a Cruz

Rebel and Federal Forces Reach Agreement as to Future Course; Negotiations Carried on Through American Embassy; Long Battle at Last Comes to an End

DEVELOPMENTS OF DAY IN MEXICAN CRISIS

President Francisco I. Madero is taken prisoner by federal troops while in hall of ambassadors and given choice of resigning or being deported, choosing the former.

General Huerta, commander-in-chief of federal army, is proclaimed provisional president of Mexico.

Rebel and federal forces begin negotiations looking to friendly relations.

Order given for cessation of hostilities late in the afternoon.

Gustavo Madero, brother of the president, is arrested while dining with General Huerta.

Vice President Suarez is last member of old regime to be arrested.

Arrangements continued during day by the United States to mobilize naval and land forces in Cuba and on the border, ready for the word to invade rebellious republic. Warships and marines will remain in southern waters, for time being, ready for any emergency.

New president must give evidence of ability to cope with situation before the United States will recognize official acts.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 18.—Francisco I. Madero, arrested in the national palace this afternoon by General Blanquet, one of his own commanders, was forced to sign his resignation from the presidency.

General Victoriano Huerta, commander of the federal troops which have been fighting Diaz, has been proclaimed provisional president.

Gustavo Madero and all the cabinet ministers, with the exception of Ernesto Madero, are under arrest. The vice president of the republic, Jose Pino Suarez, still is at liberty, but is in hiding.

The American ambassador and the other foreign diplomats held a conference at the American embassy tonight to discuss the reestablishment of order and the further protection of foreign residents.

The Zocalo, the great plaza in front of the palace, was jammed tonight with a delirious crowd, with banners inscribed "Peace" and "Liberty" shouting for Diaz, Huerta, Blanquet and Mondragon.

The women members of the Madero family who were in Chapultepec castle, were whisked away in an automobile by friends who had learned of the coup at the national palace.

Telegrams have been sent to the governors of the states notifying them of the proclamation of Huerta as provisional president and also to the

HORRIBLE SCENES AT END OF BOMBARDMENT IN MEXICO CITY

Scarcely a District of Capital Has Escaped Fury of the Death-Dealing Projectiles Hurlled During Long Siege

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 17.—(By courier to Vera Cruz, Feb. 18.) All the horrors of a bombardment have been experienced by the residents of this city for many days and to those that might be expected have been added the effects of vicious machine gun and rifle fire in the streets at a range sometimes of less than 100 yards.

Scarcely a district of the capital has escaped injury. Over and through every quarter at some time shells have torn and screeched and exploded. Little round shells from the automatic pomps have added to the terror and destruction.

Hundreds of buildings attest by their holocaustic sides and wrecked interiors to the destructive qualities of modern artillery.

How many have been killed or wounded is a question which none can answer with any exactitude. It is doubtful whether even the government records will ever reveal the correct number. From a source usually considered careful, and conservative, it has been stated the number of dead is not less than 2,000; while the total of the wounded amounts to from 8,000 to 10,000. The great majority of these are not soldiers, but men, women and children unable to escape the line of fire.

This estimate was made after hearing the reports of scores of officers of the White and Red Cross societies and of the hospitals.

It is a well-known fact that detachments of 50 and 100 men have been slaughtered here and there at various times when caught in the narrow streets and mowed down by the machine guns.

Every morning may be seen what appears in the zone of the actual fight to be piles of burning rubbish. These heaps are for the most part rubbish, but the odor of burning flesh tells another story.

A practical though gruesome method has been utilized in one place. The gas escaping from a broken main has been lighted and there in that steady flame has been improvised a crematory.

In the basement of an apartment house a few blocks from the arsenal is the grave of Mrs. E. W. Holmes, one of the two American women killed

DEMAND SAFETY FOR AMERICANS

NEW PRESIDENT MUST PROTECT SUBJECTS

Gen. Huerta Will First Be Required to Show Ability Before Recognition

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The government of Francisco I. Madero having fallen and Gen. Victoriano Huerta having been proclaimed president of Mexico, it devolves upon United States Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson to move at one with the de facto Mexican government for the protection of Americans throughout the republic.

It will be Mr. Wilson's first duty to treat with the new president for amelioration of the conditions imposed on Americans and other foreigners as a result of the fighting in the streets of Mexico City in which some foreigners were killed, others wounded and thousands rendered homeless.

Political recognition of the government which emerged tonight out of the travail through which Mexico has passed in the last two years will be a slower proceeding.

Must Show Ability.

While this government will take no concern over the choice of a successor to President Madero, such a successor will have to demonstrate his ability to maintain stable government before political recognition will be accorded him by the United States. Mexico today is honeycombed and torn asunder by many revolutionary movements. The principal of these are the Orozco movement in the north and the Zapata uprisings in the south. Lawlessness has become a rife and robber bands, masquerading as revolutionists, have sent terror through the states of Mexico from the Rio Grande to Yucatan.

In order to lay claim to political recognition from this government, the United States will demand that the new president, be he General Huerta, or some other, must suppress these disturbing elements, restore order and establish the workings of justice in the states.

The formality of political recognition, in all likelihood, will fall to the administration of President-elect Wilson.

Government Still Firm.

The news tonight found this government still firm in its policy of non-intervention and unwavering in its preparation, upon a moment's notice, to strike an aggressive blow for the

POINCARÉ BECOMES FRENCH PRESIDENT

Transfer of Power Marked by the Most Simple Ceremonies

PARIS, Feb. 18.—Raymond Poincaré took over today the office of president of the French republic from Armand Fallières, who retired after serving his full term of seven years. Nothing more simple than the transfer of power from one chief executive in France to his successor can be imagined.

President Poincaré listened while M. Fallières said:

"I transfer to you the powers of the state. Then, in a clear and solemn voice he replied:

"I consecrate myself to the service of the republic."

The ceremony took place in the beautiful palace of the Elysee. No oath of office was taken and no oration made.

As President Poincaré, accompanied by his two predecessors, Armand Fallières and Emile Loubet, left the palace, many thousands of bouquets were thrown at them by working girls who took off their bonnets and tossed them into the carriages.

Bouquet From Aeroplane.

At the same time an aviator with his aeroplane, freighted with fresh blossoms dropped them from a great height along the route to the city hall and upon the building itself. There a luncheon had been prepared by the city councillors for the new president.

President Fallières, aged mother and his wife were present in the city hall to witness the scene.

A beautiful and stirring effect was caused in the city hall when an immense choir composed of the full choruses, from the Opera, the Opera Comique and the Academy of Music sang the "Marseillaise" and other patriotic hymns.

Premier Briand formally tendered the resignation of his cabinet to President Poincaré tonight, but the president asked that the ministry remain in office.

President Poincaré has received messages of felicitation from many rulers of the world.

LEGISLATURE TO PROBE N. Y. VICE

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO CARRY ON WORK

Will Endeavor to Enact Remedial Legislation to Prevent Recurrence

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Vested with broad powers, a joint committee of the legislature organized today will seek advice from various sources in New York with a view to drafting remedial legislation for a reform of the police department.

The committee met tonight and formally organized by electing Senator Robert F. Wagner, Democratic leader of the upper house, as chairman. He was empowered to appoint a subcommittee to go to New York to confer with Mayor Gaynor, District Attorney Whitman, the aldermanic committee and others.

Public hearings probably will begin there on February 26 and continue during the following week.

The purpose of the committee, Chairman Wagner said tonight, is not to investigate evils but to invent legislation and to devise ways and means to abolish the evils which already have been disclosed or which may be disclosed by the investigations now being made.

Whitman Smiles at Report.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—When shown a dispatch announcing the appointment by the legislature of a committee of 11 to investigate the police situation in New York City, District Attorney Whitman smiled but would make no comment. It was learned, however, that there would be no friction between the investigating committee and the office of the county prosecutor.

LARGEST PENSION BILL EVER KNOWN PASSED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The largest pension bill ever reported to congress, carrying appropriations aggregating $130,300,000, was passed by the house today by a vote of 219 to 197.

A small number of Democrats, led by Representative Roderick, made futile efforts to add amendments to bar from the pension rolls veterans having incomes exceeding $1,000 a year and not entitled to pensions on account of wounds or disabilities sustained in the military service.

As reported by the committee, the bill contained a paragraph providing that after July, 1913, no pension should be paid to a nonresident not a citizen of the United States, except for actual disabilities incurred in the service.

A motion by Representative Good, of Iowa to strike out this paragraph was carried, 134 to 112, many Democrats joining with the solid Republican minority in support of the motion.

The feeling of diplomats today is more hopeful also in regard to the Austro-Russian difficulties. The latest Russian proposal, it is understood, does not insist that the Turkish fortresses of Scutari should be handed over to Montenegro, and Austria-Hungary is able to secure Scutari for Albania, it is thought that a compromise may be effected in regard to the other points.

The ambassadors here anticipate that they will be able to report favorable progress at their next meeting on Thursday.

Creates Panic on Bourse.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 18.—The dispute between Bulgaria and Roumania over the cession of a strip of territory by Bulgaria to Roumania on the Black sea coast brought about a panic on the bourse here today, while public opinion also was greatly excited.

Russia, it is believed here, has decided to follow the example of Germany, Austria-Hungary and France by increasing the peace footing of her army.

Situation Unchanged.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—There is no news from the seat of war. Official Turkish dispatches say the situation has not changed either at Bulair or the Tocatalla line.

Enver Bey's condition is not known and even his whereabouts is a mystery.

Dispatches from Athens and Constantinople give the impression that this port is negotiating for the cession of Rhodes to Italy for a consideration of $10,000,000.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—A Cetinje dispatch to the Times says that the allies suffered seriously in the three days' fighting which ended in the capture of Bardonia. The Montenegrins lost 1,000 killed and wounded on the Tara beach side and nearly 4,000 at Bardonia. The Servians lost 800 at Berdica.

Scutari has proved itself able to withstand the attack of 50,000 troops. The Servians were handicapped by a lack of heavy artillery.

It is believed that the attack will be renewed before the end of the week.

SON OF GENERAL LEE DIES

RAVENSWORTH, Va., Feb. 18.—Gen. W. C. Lee, eldest son of General Robert E. Lee, formerly on the staff of Jefferson Davis, and president emeritus of Washington and Lee university, died here today, aged 80.

MEMBERS ART SOCIETY VIEW EXHIBIT TONIGHT

Tonight will be "varnishing" night at the second art exhibit of the Colorado Springs Art society, which will be held at the federal court room.

Members of the society will be admitted this evening, and owing to the fact that today will be too late to send the dues of either $2 or $10 to Mrs. Clarence P. Dodge, those desiring membership can get cards at the door tonight by payment of dues. There will be music at this evening's exhibit. The public exhibit will open tomorrow night and continue for 10 days.

The exhibit will consist of 21 oil paintings by Philip Little, whose nephew, Edward Little, a caricaturist, formerly lived in this city. Little's work is ranked high in American art, and he has canvases exhibited in the St. Louis Art museum, the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, the Walker Memorial building at Bowdoin college, the Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts, the Essex Institute at Salem, Mass., and other art centers. The paintings for the present exhibit come from St. Paul, Minn.

EXPECT TO BREAK GROUND BY MAR. 20

Plans Revised and Approved for New Men's Building at Colorado College

Ground for the new $100,000 men's building at Colorado college will be broken by March 20, it is the plans of President W. P. Sloum are carried out.

A conference Monday afternoon between Architect Maurice Blosser of Denver, President Sloum, Athletic Director Rothgeb and the student and faculty committees resulted in the final approval of the revised plans and work on the specifications and details has been started by the architect.

As soon as these specifications are completed, bids will be asked and the contract granted.

Every detail of the building was discussed at the conference, and a number of modifications were adopted. The gymnasium floor has been enlarged and galleries are to be placed at the ends, large enough to accommodate 250 spectators for basketball and indoor baseball games. There also will be room on the gymnasium floor for seats.

Outdoor Idea Developed.

The outdoor gymnasium idea has been developed to a large extent, and a concrete stadium seating 1,000 people is to be constructed. This will be arranged so that it can serve as a grandstand for athletic exhibitions as well as for dramatic productions. This will be the only Greek theater in Colorado. It will be unique in design.

An assembly room for all college gatherings will be built under the commons dining room. This is a new idea adopted Monday. The rooms for the athletic teams, shower baths and locker rooms have been developed and are now in acceptable form.

"We have not tried to hurry these plans or the construction of the building at all," said President Sloum. "It is such an important building that we wanted all suggestions and ideas considered before the final plans are adopted. At this time the building plans are complete."

The new building will be called Frederick H. Cossitt hall, and the money was given by Mrs. A. D. Julliard of New York city. The building is to be named after her late father, who was a prominent New York merchant.

BULGAR-ROUMANIAN CONTROVERSY MAY SOON BE SETTLED

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Roumania's latest proposal is that Bulgaria should cede to her the Black sea coast as far as Cape Kali Akra, as well as the town of Balchik, and in this case, Roumania would forego her demand for the Bulgarian town of Silistria, which the Bulgarians resolutely refuse to give up.

Bulgaria objects to the scheme because she declares the fortification on Cape Kali Akra would menace the Bulgarian port of Varna, but the powers anticipate that a settlement will be brought nearer by the latest developments.

The feeling of diplomats today is more hopeful also in regard to the Austro-Russian difficulties. The latest Russian proposal, it is understood, does not insist that the Turkish fortresses of Scutari should be handed over to Montenegro, and Austria-Hungary is able to secure Scutari for Albania, it is thought that a compromise may be effected in regard to the other points.

The ambassadors here anticipate that they will be able to report favorable progress at their next meeting on Thursday.

Creates Panic on Bourse.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 18.—The dispute between Bulgaria and Roumania over the cession of a strip of territory by Bulgaria to Roumania on the Black sea coast brought about a panic on the bourse here today, while public opinion also was greatly excited.

Russia, it is believed here, has decided to follow the example of Germany, Austria-Hungary and France by increasing the peace footing of her army.

Situation Unchanged.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—There is no news from the seat of war. Official Turkish dispatches say the situation has not changed either at Bulair or the Tocatalla line.

Enver Bey's condition is not known and even his whereabouts is a mystery.

Dispatches from Athens and Constantinople give the impression that this port is negotiating for the cession of Rhodes to Italy for a consideration of $10,000,000.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—A Cetinje dispatch to the Times says that the allies suffered seriously in the three days' fighting which ended in the capture of Bardonia. The Montenegrins lost 1,000 killed and wounded on the Tara beach side and nearly 4,000 at Bardonia. The Servians lost 800 at Berdica.

Scutari has proved itself able to withstand the attack of 50,000 troops. The Servians were handicapped by a lack of heavy artillery.

It is believed that the attack will be renewed before the end of the week.

SON OF GENERAL LEE DIES

RAVENSWORTH, Va., Feb. 18.—Gen. W. C. Lee, eldest son of General Robert E. Lee, formerly on the staff of Jefferson Davis, and president emeritus of Washington and Lee university, died here today, aged 80.

HOUSE TAKES UP RAILROAD RATES

BILL WOULD REDUCE ALL FARES IN STATE

Civil Libel Measure Consented, Liquor Bill Killed for Time Being

HOUSE TAKES UP RAILROAD RATES

BILL WOULD REDUCE ALL FARES IN STATE

Civil Libel Measure Consented, Liquor Bill Killed for Time Being

By WALTER LAWSON WILDER

DENVER, Feb. 18.—The house this afternoon undertook to pass a bill to amend the laws relating to the rates of the whole. Representatives have before bill No. 115. The bill proposes to divide the state into two districts, that of the mountains and that of the plains, and further to regulate the rates of the mountain roads according to the gross passenger earnings of the roads.

For the short haul, which is fixed at five miles for two plains and 10 miles for the mountains with a rate per mile, respectively of three cents and five cents. For other distances on the plains the rate proposed is two cents a mile, and for other distances in the mountains the rate is three cents where the gross passenger earnings are $1,000 per mile or more, and three and one-half cents where the gross passenger earnings are less than $1,000 per mile per year.

The plains district includes all of Larimer county, the city of Boulder, all of Adams, Arapahoe and Douglas counties, both of the main railroad lines between Palmer Lake and Pueblo in El Paso county, all of Pueblo county and that part of Huerfano and Las Animas counties lying east of the main lines between Pueblo and Trinidad, and Trinidad and Walsenburg, with that portion of the state lying east of the region mentioned.

Author Answers Questions.

Mr. Sweet, the author of the bill, made a lengthy argument in favor of the bill, answering many questions from a large number of representatives. He presented detailed statistics showing the gross earnings from passenger business, but in answer to several questions said he had no data in regard to cost of operating passenger trains. The railroads, he said, were hauling through passengers and excursionists at lower rates than those specified in the bill, and he thought the people of the state should have similar benefits.

He cited the present rates between Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek as an illustration of the prices at which a mountain railroad is willing to do a passenger business. He said that the hauling of passengers was not the main business of the roads, but the hauling of freight and express and mail matter, and even if the rates proposed involved a loss to the railroad in some cases, no legislation would be done to them.

At the end of the discussion and without taking any action, Mr. Sweet moved to pass for a day, retaining its place on the calendar.

Civil Damage Actions.

In the senate the principal event of the day was the passage of Senator Hecker's bill to authorize civil actions for the recovery of damages arising from newspaper publications negligently made, and requiring newspapers to print the names of the owners, proprietors, publishers and managing editors. The final favorable vote was

Man Who Carried First Mail From Colo. City Dead

John William Shrock, the first pony expressman to carry the United States mail from Colorado City to Breckenridge and surrounding towns, died at his home in Denver last Sunday, according to word received here yesterday. Death was due to apoplexy.

Mr. Shrock was 77 years old in January. He was born in Georgetown, Ky., in 1835. His parents moved to Independence, Mo., shortly after his birth and he was raised there. In 1859 Mr. Shrock and his parents left Independence in a prairie schooner for the West. They arrived in Colorado in 1860 after a journey filled with hardships. Twice they were lost on the rolling prairies and for days had no water. They finally reached Colorado City and settled there.

While living at Colorado City Mr. Shrock carried mail to the towns about Breckenridge and Como, making a circuit of 200 miles each trip. He had many extraordinary experiences as a pony expressman, among which was an encounter with the Mexican bandit, Espinosa, in South Park.

After a few years' residence in the Pikes Peak region, the Shrocks moved to Denver and built a home on the corner of what is now Sixteenth and Welton streets, the present site of the Kaiserhof hotel, which is still the property of the family. Mr. Shrock also owned many other pieces of real estate in Denver.

A builder by trade, Mr. Shrock worked on many of the largest of the early structures in the capital city. He did most of the stone and brick work on the Tabor opera house and the Daniels and Fisher store.

Mr. Shrock was a member of the Pikes Peak society of Colorado and the first member of the Union Lodge No. 1, Odd Fellows, to receive a 25-year jewel. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. L. C. McClure, and Mrs. Mary R. Conrad.

NEW NICKEL WILL SOON BE IN CIRCULATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Coinage of the new nickel was ordered today by Secretary MacVeagh, despite objections of certain slot machine interests. It will be placed in circulation in the course of a week.

The protests against the new coin dwindled to one manufacturer.

PROMINENT SPEAKER FOR ANNUAL BANQUET

Joseph E. Caine, secretary of the Salt Lake City Commercial club, and one of the best known municipal publicity men in the west, has been secured as the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce, which is to be held next Monday night at 7 o'clock at the Antlers hotel. Mr. Caine will take up a number of subjects of importance in commercial organization work in the west. The committee in charge of arrangements has several other speakers who will talk along the same line, but who have not definitely responded to the invitation extended to them. The principal subjects to be discussed at the dinner will be the extension of the uses of the Chamber of Commerce and suggestions from members as to new publicity schemes.

BILL PASSED OVER TAFT'S VETO

Senate Adopts Immigration Act by a Substantial Majority

LITERACY TEST RETAINED

Foreigners Must Read and Write Before They Will Be Admitted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The Senate today passed a bill, known as the Dillingham immigration bill, which President Taft because it imposed a literacy test upon immigrants, was passed over the president's veto by the senate today by a vote of 72 to 20.

Senators Lodge and Dillingham, leading the fight to override the president's veto, declared the measure carried so many important provisions for the exclusion of criminal, diseased and insane aliens that great harm would result to the United States if it did not become a law.

"I fail to understand why it is that the United States alone among nations is not thought to have the right that all nations have to save who shall come within its borders," said Senator Lodge. "It is the only country in the world when it is argued that people born in other countries who never have seen the United States are entitled to certain rights herein."

People Should Decide.

"It is for the citizens of the United States to say who shall come into their country. That is a primary right. Still less do I understand this extreme opposition to requiring that a man shall be able to read before he enters the United States. We do not allow a man to become a part of our body politic unless he can read and write his name."

"We do not hesitate to apply a literacy test to our own people. Why is it we should hesitate to apply it to a foreigner?"

The opposition to this test at bottom is the same opposition that is made to every effort to improve our immigration laws or to restrict in any degree the number of immigrants. It comes from the steamship companies. For 20 years we have met that opposition at every turn. It is here today."

"My reason for supporting the bill," said Senator Williams, "is that I am afraid of ignorance. I am afraid of the man who strikes out blindly to overcome the wrongs he thinks exist."

How They Voted.

Senators voting to pass the bill over the veto were:

Asbury, Bacon, Bankhead, Borah, Bourne, Bradley, Brady, Brandegee, Brewster, Brown, Bryan, Burnham, Burton, Chamberlain, Clark (Wyo.), Crane, Crawford, Culberson, Cullom, Cummins, Dillingham, Dixon, Fall, Fletcher, Foster, Callinger, Gamble, Gardner, Gore, Jackson, Johnson (Maine), Johnston (Alabama), Jones, Kavanagh, Kenyon, Kern, La Follette, Lee, Lippitt, Lodge, McLean, Martin, Myers, Nelson, Newland, Overman, Owen, Page, Penrose, Perkins, Pittman, Poinchrest, Pomeroy, Richardson, Root, Sheppard, Simmons, Smith (Arizona), Smith (Georgia), Smith (South Carolina), Smart, Sutherland, Swanson, Thomas, Thornton, Tamm, Townsend, Webb, Wetmore, Williams and Works.

Senators voting to sustain the veto were:

Clapp, Cason, Clarke (Arkansas), Curtis, DuPont, Gronna, Guggenheim, McCumber, McPherson, O'Gorman, Oliver, Paynter, Shivers, Smith (Maryland), Smith (Michigan), Stephenson, Stone and Warren.

SURELY TAKE "SYRUP OF FIGS" IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED

Sweetens your stomach, clears your head and thoroughly cleanses your liver and 30 feet of bowels of sour bile, foul gases and clogged-up waste.

All those days when you feel miserable, headachy, bilious and dull are due to torpid liver and sluggish bowels. The days when your stomach is sour and full of gas, when you have indigestion; the nights when your nerves twitch and you are restless and can't sleep could be avoided with a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs. It is foolish to be distressed when there is such a pleasant way to overcome it.

Give your inactive liver and ten yards of waste-clogged bowels a thorough cleansing this time. Put an end to constipation.

Take a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs tonight, sure, and just see for yourself by morning, how gently but thoroughly all the sour bile, undigested fermenting food and clogged-up waste matter is moved on and out of your system—no nausea—no griping—no weakness.

You simply can't have your liver inactive and your thirty feet of bowels constipated with sour, decaying waste matter and feel well. The need of a laxative is a natural need, but with delicious Syrup of Figs you are not distressing yourself. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it can not injure.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse, with scorn, any of the so-called Fig Syrup imitations. They are meant to deceive you. Look on the label. The genuine, old reliable, bears the name, California Fig Syrup Company.

MADERO TAKEN PRISONER

would deliver it to whomsoever congress designated.

General Felipe Angeles, who refused to support the new government, was placed under arrest.

The direct movement against Madero was the result of a plot which had been brewing since yesterday.

From the first it had been known that General Blanquet was unwilling to fight. His men were of the same mind. He held complete command over them and it was not doubted that they would follow him in any adventure, which they did at the national palace this afternoon. The forces numbering 1,000 men which arrived late yesterday were sent immediately to the palace, ostensibly to relieve the reserves there. The reserves were sent into the field.

Generals Reach Agreement

An agreement between Generals Blanquet and Huerta was reached last night, but the first intimation that Blanquet's men had of the new role they were to play was shortly before the successful stroke was made when Blanquet drew his men up in order and delivered a stirring speech.

"This inhuman battle must end," he said. "The time has come when some drastic means must be taken to stop a conflict in which fathers are killing sons and brothers are fighting against brothers; when noncombatants are sharing the fate of war—and all of this because of the caprice of the man."

Blanquet then issued orders for the arrest of the president and assigned a detachment to that duty. Madero soon was a prisoner in his own rooms.

One reason given for the attitude of General Blanquet from the beginning was the presence of his son in the ranks of Diaz.

Shout "Vivas" for Rebels

When the arrest of the president and his ministers became known, crowds gathered in the streets through which they paraded shouting "vivas" for Huerta and Diaz. A conference was held between the representatives of these two generals and an agreement was reached whereby the appointment of General Huerta to the provisional presidency was proclaimed.

Prior to this, however, Huerta's attempt to communicate with Diaz precipitated one of the sharpest engagements of the day. The fire from the rebel rifles and machine guns was long sustained. It was by no means certain at that time that the coup which had been carried out meant the end of hostilities. At 3:30 in the afternoon the cannonading continued heavier and the rattle of machine guns was heard in various quarters. At that time San Francisco street was being cleared by Huerta as if he were expecting an attack.

Battle Finally Ends.

A half an hour later the order to cease firing was sounded and the battle was over.

A few loyal members of Madero's staff rushed into the room where Madero was struggling with the soldiers and went to his rescue, but their efforts were of no avail. Captain Garza, who had just been appointed chief of police, advanced upon Colonel Riveroll, shooting and wounding him seriously. Immediately there was an exchange of shots and three or four members of the president's staff are said to have been wounded.

Just to make the records clear, Madero was given reasonable time in which to write his resignation. Failure to do this, it is said, will result in his being sent with his family to Vera Cruz, where they will be given the choice of outgoing vessels.

General Delgado, who acted as the emissary of Madero in the negotiations for an armistice Sunday, has been arrested. Huerta and his supporters did not trust Delgado to come into their plans.

Twenty men of the Twenty-ninth Infantry, of Blanquet's forces, were entrusted with the duty of guarding the private rooms of the president at

Plan Carefully Laid

The arrest of Madero took place in the heart of the ambassadors. When the president entered the room he found all the entrances guarded. One soldier, overexcited by the words of Blanquet, pointed his gun at the breast of Madero, who leaped upon him. In the struggle the gun was discharged, without injuring any one. The soldier was disarmed and placed under arrest by order of General Huerta on the charge of firing without orders.

The finest irony attended the arrest of Gustavo Madero, the brother of the president, distinguished as a politician, to whose door most of the evils of the administration have been laid.

He had invited General Huerta to luncheon at the Cambrinus, a popular restaurant. This was the custom with Gustavo Madero in winning favor. General Huerta, however, had invited guests unknown to his host. In a room adjoining he had stationed a detachment of Chapultepec park guards. All were prepared to take their seats, when, at a signal from Huerta, the officer in command entered. Pointing a pistol at Madero, he announced he was under arrest. At the same moment soldiers filed into the room.

President Is Old Army Man

Gustavo loudly protested against this indignity, but General Huerta replied in a loud voice, condemning the Madero family.

Gen. Victoriano Huerta, named as provisional president of Mexico, formerly was commander of the north division of the army. He has seen much service in the present campaign, and last year fought a number of engagements against the insurgents under Orozco.

Huerta retired from his command last December and was offered a post in the war department. When the Diaz revolt began in 1911, Huerta led the government troops, and he was named as post commander of Mexico City when General Villar was wounded.

Up to a late hour the vice president, Jose Pena Suarez, had not been found. Detachments of troops were searching for him.

General Huerta Opposed

LAREDO, Tex., Feb. 18.—When informed by a representative of the Associated Press that the Madero government had been overthrown, and General Huerta named provisional president, Colonel Pascual Orozco, Sr., and Colonel Andres Garza Gallan, revolutionary leaders in the north of Mexico, declared the revolutionists in that section would not approve the selection of Huerta and would continue the rebellion unless another is chosen to manage the affairs of Mexico, preferably Sen or de la Barra or General Gerónimo Trevino.

The two leaders, who are in command of the rebel forces in control of Nuevo Laredo, issued a joint statement in which the said:

"We cannot believe that under any circumstances, would Felix Diaz accept General Huerta as temporary president. The revolutionists of the north, both here and in the state of Chihuahua, are in favor of either one of two men for temporary president—Senor Francisco Leon de la Barra or General Gerónimo Trevino, and in the event General Huerta has been proclaimed temporary president will continue their campaign until a man entirely agreeable to the entire country in selected to manage their plans for continuing the rebellion."

Federals Join Rebels

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Feb. 18.—Federal forces reported to be marching to retake the city of Matamoros, which fell into rebel hands Monday, joined the revolutionists who went out to meet them tonight and a general celebration was begun when the federal enemies marched into the city.

Several hundred shots were fired when the two bodies met, but it evidently was by prearrangement that they joined forces. There were no casualties.

The demonstration was orderly but at the request of county officials, a company of the Texas national guard

"Squealer's" Tongue to Be Cut Out If He Tells Any More

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—If Luigi Tancredi, a state's witness in the police graft investigation, does further "squealing" supplementing his testimony that was followed by the indictment of a patrolman, his tongue will be cut out, according to the threat of two men whose testimony Tancredi did not know. This information reached District Attorney Whitman today.

Newspaper clippings telling how a one-time gambler, since shot to death by an enemy, cut off the ear of an employee who "squealed" and nailed it to the wall of his resort, were shown to Tancredi by the men who said they would cut his tongue out if he gave more testimony for the state. Tancredi, a hotelkeeper, involved in his grand jury testimony Policeman Thomas Robinson, who, with Dennis Sweeney, inspector, and John J. Hartigan, detective, was indicted yesterday. Sweeney was demoted to captain today.

has been ordered to "Protect Brownsville and vicinity."

Escape Is Difficult

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 18.—The many Americans remaining in Chihuahua and other states of northern Mexico may have difficulty in securing passage to the border over the Mexican General railway, the only line remaining open. All train crews today refused to run trains south of Juarez for fear of rebel activity along the line.

Passenger trains bearing American refugees here were turned back a short distance from Chihuahua City. The Mexican railroad men refusing to proceed north.

Censor Still on Job

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 18.—An official order was issued by the new government opening the cables for regular service. The censor, however, refused to leave his post for a considerable time after the Madero government had been ousted.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Secretary Knox told President Taft and the cabinet today that notwithstanding all the fierce fighting in the City of Mexico for the last eight days, there had been no infraction of the rules of civilized warfare, or of the principles of international law as would warrant any interference by the United States.

The responsibility of both President Madero and General Diaz, he said, to the suggestion of Ambassador Wilson in the capacity as dean of the diplomatic corps in the Mexican capital have been so complete and satisfactory as to justify officials in their opinion for the strictly neutral attitude observed by the United States.

It was noted that yesterday the federal batteries that threatened to draw the fire of the rebels upon the legislative quarter were promptly removed by General Huerta upon the request of the American ambassador, who also has been given the largest powers and freedom of movement in extending aid to Americans and other foreigners within the fighting line.

Apparently the policy adopted by the United States in dealing with the Mexican situation has been one of unqualified approval of the European powers. During the last week Secretary Knox has talked with several of the ambassadors. In no instance has there been a disposition to criticize the administration for not intervening.

It was declared by administration officials today that there was no inconsistency between the entertainment of this purpose of nonintervention and the steady progress of the movements of concentration of ships, soldiers and marines for the last 24 hours, and that these measures are not designs to meet existing conditions in Mexico but only to guard against the possibility of unexpected and grave conditions that might place the safety of foreigners in Mexico quite beyond the ability of the defective government to insure.

Man in Chih Wants Gov. Ammons to Break Hypnotic Spell on Him

DENVER, Feb. 18.—Governor Ammons received a prepaid telegram from William Eberhard of Valparaiso, Chih., today, demanding that he, as the state's executive, restrain Dr. Newhouse of the Mount Airy Sanatorium from interfering with the mental operations of Eberhard. According to Eberhard, Dr. Newhouse has hypnotized him and he wants him "stopped."

Eberhard demanded an answer from Governor Ammons and to insure its transmission, he prepaid it. It is the second time Governor Ammons has been requested to relieve Eberhard of the hypnotic control of Dr. Newhouse. A week ago a cablegram from Germany signed by Eberhard's brother begged the governor to rescue his brother from the control of Dr. Newhouse. His brother is in distress, he said, and something should be done for him. Dr. Newhouse disclaims knowledge of Eberhard.

HARTWELL, NEB., BEING WIPED OUT BY BIG FIRE

HARTWELL, Neb., Feb. 18.—The town of Hartwell in this county is in danger of being wiped out by a fire which started late in the night, and according to last advices was still burning. All the business houses on the west side of the chief business street have been burned and the fire has spread to the east side. Among the burned buildings are the bank, two grain elevators, and a number of stores. The loss is heavy.

BEGIN TRIAL OF DOOR FOR MARSH MURDER

SALEM, Mass., Feb. 18.—Taking of testimony in the trial of William A. Door of Shelton, Conn., who is charged with murdering George E. Marsh, a wealthy resident of Lynn, was begun today.

ARBITRATION WILL PREVENT A STRIKE

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—There will be no firemen's strike on the eastern railroads. The railroads yielded today and agreed to arbitrate under the Erdman act the controversy with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. The firemen had stood, to a man, for this method of arbitration ever since the deadlock between the railroads had stood firm for arbitration before a commission of six or seven men.

Three men, acting under the law, will decide the firemen's claims. Their decision will be binding.

The firemen selected their representative on the board of arbitrators as soon as the railroads' decision was announced. He is Albert Phillips of Sacramento, Cal., vice president of their organization. The railroads selected as their man, W. W. Atterbury, vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania lines east.

Within a day or two these two men will select the third or neutral member. Within 30 days thereafter the arbitrators must render their findings. Where they will meet was not announced.

U. S. MACHINE GUN STOLEN BY REBELS

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 18.—A machine gun of the Thirtieth platoon at Hachita, N. M., disappeared Sunday night, according to reliable reports received here today. It is believed that Mexican rebels sneaked over the border and stole the piece.

The story is denied by Major Clark, district adjutant at Fort Bliss, who declares no report of the matter has been made. However, the disappearance of the gun is fully verified in quiet and unobtrusive attempts to keep it quiet, and United States troops since Monday morning, when the piece was missing, have been searching the border for a trace of the missing artillery. Hachita is nearly 30 miles from the nearest point on the border and how the gun was stolen is unexplained.

The occurrence is only paralleled by an incident at El Paso during the Madero revolution, when rebels kidnapped an old cannon from the center of the town, returning the piece at the conclusion of hostilities.

Rebels evaded the border patrol near Columbus, N. M., this week and imported 1,800 suits of khaki uniforms and an equal number of pairs of shoes for the use of Salazar's rebel army. A previous consignment of clothing and shoes had been held by the United States troops. Some days ago, General Inez Salazar, the rebel commander in chief, boasted that some of his men would steal a machine gun from United States troops. Little attention was paid to the threat at the time.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Feb. 18.—With the machine gun stolen at Hachita, disappeared a large quantity of ammunition for the piece. Mexicans, who had been seen looting about the camp, cannot be located. A vigilant hunt has failed to locate the missing piece at any point on the border.

"Boy," 53, Is in Police Court for Refusing to Be Spanked by Father

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 18.—"No go home and be a good boy," said Police Judge E. J. today to James Morris, 53 years old, who found himself in the police court because he resented a spanking at the hands of his father, Thomas Morris, who has passed his eighty-third birthday. James told the judge that his father attempted to spank him, and believing that he had passed the age of physical correction, he had grappled with the father. The father then had the son arrested for assault, but the evoked repentance of each led the court to dismiss the charge with a paternal injunction against a repetition of the incident.

STRATTON'S INDEPENDENCE CASE IN SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The intricate question of whether the corporation tax may be collected from mining corporations on the proceeds received from the sale of minerals mined, was today laid before the supreme court for solution. The Eighth circuit court of appeals in the suit over the collection of the tax from the Stratton Independence, limited, a gold mine in Colorado, was uncertain as to the law and certified the case to the supreme court.

MAY TALK BY WIRELESS WITH SHIPS AT SEA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Intense interest is being taken in the test made today to establish and maintain communication between the great naval wireless station at Arlington, Va., and the scout cruiser Salem, which now is 1,000 miles out on the Atlantic. The communication, it is planned, will be maintained, if possible, up to a distance of 3,000 miles. None of the navy wireless experts has any doubt of the ability of the station to pick up the Salem today, but there is much speculation as to how much further off the station can keep in touch. If the tests are satisfactory the government will pay the final installment of $250,000 due to the contractors who erected the tower.

WILSON FAMILY REUNION IS PLANNED FOR MARCH 4

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 18.—There will be a Wilson family reunion at the White house on inauguration day in which all the close relatives of the new president will participate. Plans for it are announced by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. It probably will be held at the hotel where the president-elect will be the guest of his cousin, John Wilson of Franklin, Pa., and Mrs. John Wilson.

Col. Thomas M. Birch, personal aide to Governor Wilson, will go to Washington tomorrow to arrange details for the family party. It probably will be grouped together in the presidential reviewing stand for the inaugural parade. Thirty-five people will compose the party, about 20 of whom are relatives. Members of the new cabinet and their wives may be added later. All will be present at the White house at luncheon just after the inauguration ceremonies.

Besides Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and her three daughters, there will be the governor's brother and sister, Joseph R. Wilson, of Nashville, Tenn., and Mrs. Annie W. Howe of Philadelphia, Wilson Howe of Washington, D. President Axson of Princeton university, brother of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson; John Wilson of Franklin, Pa., a cousin of the president-elect, and Mrs. John Wilson; Mrs. Thomas W. Woodrow of Denver, Colo., aunt of Governor Wilson; Mrs. James Woodrow of Columbia, S. C., cousin of the governor, her two sons, James Woodrow, Jr., and Fitzwilliam McMillan Woodrow, and her daughter, also Miss Helen Woodrow Bones of Rome, Ga., a cousin of Governor Wilson.

SHACKELTON UNDAUNTED BY FATE OF SCOTT PARTY

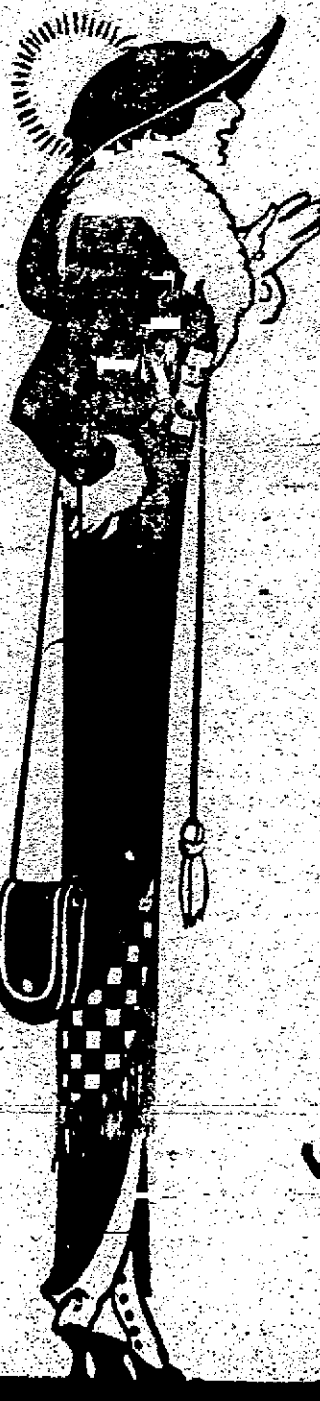

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The deaths which Captain Scott and four of his men met in the Antarctic will have no effect on the determination of Sir Ernest Shackleton to go south again. At a luncheon in his honor on the eve of his departure for England, Shackleton reaffirmed his intention of leading another expedition as there was still work to be done in the Antarctic. "Human lives are nothing," he said, "if by going forth we can add one iota to the sum of human knowledge." He paid a tribute to Scott and to Commodore Charles Wilkes, of the United States navy whose discovery of the Antarctic continent in 1840 has recently been confirmed by the Mawson expedition.

RUPPURI

SEELEY, WHO TITLED THE CZAR OF RUSSIA, CALLED TO COLORADO SPRINGS

F. H. Seeley of Chicago and Philadelphia is now at the Airs Vista hotel, and will remain in Colorado Springs this Tuesday and Wednesday only. He says: "The Spematic Shield Trust, as fitted to the czar of Russia and now tried and approved by the United States government, will not only retain any case of rheumatism perfectly, affording immediate and complete relief, but close the opening in ten days on the average case."

Ruppuri is not a tear or branch in the abdominal wall, as ignorantly supposed, therefore nothing to knit or heal—but Ruppuri is the elevation or protrusion of a natural opening, therefore subject to closure. Don't worry with a Ruppuri in the abdomen. The Ruppuri is also a Ruppuri today.

Spematic Shield Put On You "C" the Quickest

This instrument—received the only Award in England and Spain, producing results without surgery, having injurious treatment or prescription. Mr. Seeley has documents from the United States government, Washington, D. C., for inspection, as to the perfection of this instrument. If you, interested call, he will be glad to show the same without charge, or fit them, if needed.

NON-PARTISANSHIP IN CONGRESS

SENATOR-ELECT NORRIS of Nebraska, a public official of the more enlightened type, declares that he will support whatever legislation he believes to be good, regardless of its origin. Although a Progressive Republican Mr. Norris intends to support the administration when it recommends measures that meet with his approval.

There is nothing really new in this sort of an announcement, but there will be some novelty in strict adherence to it. Nearly every man elected to public office makes some sort of perfunctory promise concerning his intention to do everything that is right and just and steer clear of everything that is wrong. But too often they fall short on the day of fulfillment. Commenting on Mr. Norris' program the Washington Post says:

"Were all members of Congress to take the same position, legislation would drift into chaos. It would be almost impossible to select committees to try and draft the business of the House. There would be no party program. Every man would be for himself and the devil take the hindmost."

This expression is typical of the old stand-pat idea of public duty as determined by partisanship. It is based on the assumption that the first obligation of a public official is to the party which gave him his job. Strictly adhered to it means that the organization must remain intact though the heavens fall.

It was under such party discipline that the Republican machines in the Senate and House reached the height of their perfection under the leadership of Senator Aldrich and Speaker Cannon. And it is equally true that the evils which resulted in the abuse of this power were the chief reason for the downfall of the party and its present disorganization. Mr. Norris, as a congressman from Nebraska, was the floor leader of the insurgent forces which overthrew Cannon in a memorable two days' parliamentary battle from which the Speaker emerged discredited, defeated and shorn of most of his autocratic authority. It is not surprising, therefore, that he has made this declaration against the continued misuse of a party organization to defeat worthy legislation.

HAZING THE RAILROADS

ANTI-RAILROAD legislation, partly good but mostly bad, is a familiar feature of every legislative session in every state; but the present session of the Colorado General Assembly is noteworthy for the number of such measures introduced. There are bills demanding lower passenger rates, based on the assumption that since free transportation has been abolished the railroads can afford to haul passengers at lower fares. There are measures presumably designed to increase safety in operation, as, for instance, a measure requiring electric headlights of a specified candlepower on all locomotives, and there are other bills intended to promote the safety and comfort of employees. We have not examined these measures individually, but it is apparent at a glance that however good some of them may be, there are others which if enacted would serve no good purpose but would unnecessarily increase the cost of railway operation. One which appears to be in this class is the full crew bill, which provides for an extra brakeman on all freight trains of more than twenty-five cars. Railroad officials contend that the third brakeman would be wholly unnecessary for there would be nothing for him to do.

In Texas, which has had its share of freak railroad legislation, a similar bill is pending, and is thus criticised by the Dallas News:

If the misnamed "full-crew" bill should be enacted, this among other curious things could happen and would necessarily happen: A cattle shipper might order twenty-five cars, and the railroad would proceed to move that number of cars to his shipping point, starting out with a crew of five men. In accordance with the provisions of the bill, if at the next way station from its starting point some one should have a loaded car of perishable stuff, vegetables, for instance, destined for a station or two down the road, the train could not "pick up" and move that car, not because the locomotive was not capable of pulling the added load, but because then the train would be made up of twenty-six cars and a crew of that length would have to be provided. Of course there would be an alternative. The engine alone might go to the nearest division point and pick up an extra brakeman and re-forming to the point where it had left its train of empties, might on its way. Still, that is not a very satisfactory alternative. The waiting cattle shipper would undoubtedly expend some of his store of patience, and the railroad would, in its effort to accommodate all concerned, be put to some not inconsiderable expense.

We hope that the Colorado Legislature will subject each of these measures to careful and intelligent scrutiny before acting on them. Such as are admittedly good ought to be passed, but no benefit to the State can come from harassing the railroads by enacting unnecessarily burdensome laws.

THE WEATHER

NO CLAIM of striking originality is made for either the title or subject matter of this editorial, but lest there be some people who have become so accustomed to the glories of Colorado Springs' climate that they are no longer appreciative, we direct attention to the superior quality of the article.

Crisp, sunny winter weather is the rule hereabouts but lately we have been especially favored. Sunday and Monday were paragon days of perfection. If Southern California or Florida could truthfully boast a few such days in an entire season they would talk about it and advertise it all over the country. But observe; here in Colorado Springs such days are not exceptional. All winter long we have more of them than of the other kind. In no other spot in the United States as far north as this do people play golf in December, January and February, or sit in the public parks without overcoats, playing checkers and chess.

In the best and truest sense Colorado Springs is a winter resort. It is not a winter resort for people who want to propagate the germ of laziness by snoozing in hammocks all day long, but for those who seek new life in the crisp, invigorating mountain air, where there is a minimum of snow and rain and a maximum of glorious sunshine, this is the winter resort par excellence of the American continent.

EDUCATING THE INDIAN

THE Superintendent of the Carlisle Indian school, in his recent report, declares that the institution "is rapidly solving the Indian problem, and placing the aborigine on a basis where he can compete with the white man."

We hope so. But although the Carlisle school has flourished for many years its chief importance seems to lie in its output of football players and all-round athletes. When properly taught Poor Joe is a good man on the gridiron, the diamond or the track, but all the efforts of the Carlisle instructors do not seem to have overcome his hereditary distaste for real work. When he gets back to the reservation the transition from store clothes and the toothbrush habit to moccasins and dirt is accomplished without an effort. Once in a while an Indian is found who is really worth his salt, but 99 per cent of the race probably will remain "wards of the nation" to the end.

A LINCOLN MEMORIAL BRIDGE

AMONG the various schemes for honoring Lincoln's memory by the erection of some sort of national monument, the latest is a memorial bridge over the Potomac at Washington. This is provided for in a bill introduced by Congressman McCall.

The idea is much more fitting than the much discussed plan for an automobile highway from Washington to Gettysburg. A monumental bridge, beautiful in design and of lasting construction, would at that location suggest the idea of a link uniting the two sections of the country which it was Lincoln's work to restore under one government. Congress ought to pass the bill and provide funds commensurate with the importance of the project.

REFUNDING WATER BONDS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
 City Attorney McKesson's plan of issuing refunding water bonds is business from start to finish. It is just what business men are doing every day. They have a loan coming due on a certain day and to pay it all on that day would cripple their business. So they figure up their profit for the last few years, get the loan extended so they can pay a little each year, or get a new loan on such conditions and pay off the old one. It was expected that with a commission form of government our city would be run on business principles. It has a chance now to show what it will do.

If it were a new loan for any purpose whatever except a school house I would fight it. As stated, while our city can pay $200,000 or $400,000 per year on our debt, it is not a different thing to pay in round numbers $200,000 and keep it up at that rate for five years. To do so we may have to reduce our one department to one-third its force as had things to do, our police force to two-thirds. (Cuts no more than the salaries of all city employees except commission men.) The charter states that each commission man shall receive just so much, and does not promise to furnish them even a pocket knife to use in the work for the city or their own private use.

This refunding business shrouded through the council in time to be voted upon at the spring election. Every taxpayer should realize that something has got to be done. The credit of a city is just that of an individual—it is good just as long as the debts are paid. A long-time bond issued by a city of good standing is often sold over par. I will quote Mr. McKesson once more: "If anyone has a better plan, let it out. Stop talking and go to work."

RECKLESS AUTO DRIVING.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
 We understand there is a speed limit in this city of 10 miles an hour. A good many people would like to know why this law is not enforced. Some say it is because our lawmakers own machines themselves. I have seen a good many times autos driven through the streets at from 20 to 35 miles an hour, and you have to look sharp they don't run over you. Last night a man was coming home on his bicycle and was running close to the curb, but was run over by a speeding automobile going the same direction as taken by the man. He was badly hurt. We think it is about time the speed law was enforced—what are we paying the police for? Plenty of speeders they should be picking up if they are not wearing smoked glasses.

SLANG AND SLANG.

From the New York Tribune.
 A Radcliffe college student, who is also a playwright, comes to the defense of slang. What she calls "good slang" she says is necessary to the language, which without it would lose much in vividness and force.

So far as slang is an addition to language, the substitution of a vivid word or phrase for colorless description or characterization, it is an element of force and attractiveness in speaking and writing. Much slang is crystallized metaphor and is a perfectly legitimate enrichment of the vocabulary. With the new cant phrase of politics or society, founded on some striking incident, nobody can reasonably find fault. But there is another sort of slang, or another use of good slang, which is not an enrichment but an impoverishment of language, and against it all who care for the preservation of the full resources of our tongue should labor unceasingly.

That is the slang of indolence, the shorthand of speech. And it is far more familiar than the slang which colors and diversifies. How often we meet with persons of intelligence and ideas who have fallen into the habit of using cant slang phrases to express their thoughts that those thoughts have no distinctness and definiteness. These persons have often lost command of words adequate to give sharp edge to their meaning. They are like primitive folk with only a few words in stock, and those few words of slang are made to do duty with all sorts of different meanings, of which the speaker can give no clear definition and the hearer can give no satisfactory concept.

By all means let us keep the new fat phrase which strikes off a situation and has some stimulating power. Nobody wants a dead language. But neither should we have an anaemic and lame output of football players and all-round athletes. Our language has a great variety of words with shades of meaning which are going out of use, and with them the clear thinking which they call for, simply because lazy people habitually substitute the rude symbolism of slang, which somehow or other approximates their idea, for the words which would accurately express it.

That Queer Thing Called Happiness

By RUTH CAMERON.

This morning I laid aside my work and went to walk.

You see, it was this way—in the first place the postman brought me three letters from very unhappy folks. Two were from letter friends. One was unhappy because two men were in love with her, and she couldn't decide which she liked best; the other was distressed because her family didn't understand her temperament. The third letter was from a personal friend who bewailed her miserable fate in having to live in a boarding house where they had too much fish and she couldn't have a private bath.

On top of all this depressing news I had several serious troubles of my own, such as finding that my new waist didn't fit in the back and that one of my best dishes had been chipped.

Wherefore, as I said before, I left my work and went out to walk to try to forget all the trouble and unhappiness that seemed to fill the world.

As I came out of the house two girls passed by. One of them had a terrible sad half across her face. I turned away so as not to appear to see it, as no instinctively does, but before I turned I saw the girl break into a jolly laugh at something her companion said.

It was just before noon, and as I passed down a side street I met a stream of girls coming from a factory. Practically all of them were tired and sick-looking, but one stood out from the rest because she looked so unexpectably vain and fazed. She wore a cheap and ugly black dress, a battered hat and no gloves. I was just meditating on the utter dreariness of her life when her face suddenly broke into a thoroughly happy smile as she returned the greeting of a very pretty young man who was coming across the street to speak to her.

My errand was at my washerwoman's. Next door lives a poor little widow, whose husband was killed by a train a few weeks ago. She has three babies under five to support. She was standing in front of the house talking to a neighbor, with the youngest child in her arms. The baby pulled her hair and she laughed as she untangled the snaiting fingers.

On the way back I saw a little lame boy sitting on the curbstone. In the street a dozen normal children romped and ran and shouted. One of them stumbled over him and he took up his crutch and moved back into a doorway. As he sat there the gauntest, most miserable looking alley cat I ever saw slunk up to him. He put out his hand and stroked it. The creature shrank at first, but finding she was actually receiving kindness instead of blows, humped herself up against his hand and began to purr and mew very sweetly. "Oh, you little boy, smiled up at him. And at that, the little lame boy laughed outright with pleasure.

It's a queer world, isn't it? And a very queer thing, this state of mind we call happiness.

BOOKS

By GEORGE FITCH.
 Author of "At Good Old Swish"

Books are a sort of cold storage for knowledge. Because of books the world is now as wise as it was 100 years ago plus what it has learned since.

A book is an improved and perfected memory. The wise man isn't content with preaching his ideas. He sticks them into a book as fast as they are turned out and four centuries later, when some ambitious agitator is misquoting him for revenue only, some stern critic will rise from the audience and smile him with the wise man's own words in 14-point volumes, $2 each, and the balance $2 a month until death do us part.

Books were once printed by hand and were very difficult to produce. This is no longer so. Nowadays books aren't even written by hand. A good, easy running modern author can keep photographers and nine printing presses busy, and an congest a small library all by himself.

A good book with illuminated initials cost a small fortune five centuries ago. But today a best seller with a cover in four colors and a red-hot plot can be bought for $1.08 net. Books with wisdom in them come considerably higher. This is a great mistake. The books on science, philosophy and religion should be put in 50-cent editions, and the books in which the hero discovered the heroine out swimming four miles from shore and proposed to her under water between sweet and clammy kisses, ought to be sold for 55 cents at drug stores.

It is the ambition of almost every man and woman to write a book and, thanks to the cheapness of paper and ink, this desire is being generally realized. There are now over 4,000,000 books in the world, and a strong man beginning in his youth and reading 24 hours a day, could not catch up in less than a thousand years. We are told on good authority, however, that if a man will read five lineal feet of books and choose them carefully he will become wise and choose them carefully he will become wise and content. Any one of a large number of books will vastly improve the mental equipment of the reader. On the other hand, by reading a few hundred over-heated love stories, as they drop from the presses, a wise man could addle his brain beyond remedy.

Stern critics declare that no book should be read until it is at least 10 years old. The world has gone further than this, however. It has refused to read most great writers until their books were over 100 years old and the writers themselves had died of insufficient nourishment.

THE HASKIN LETTER

PANAMA CANAL TOLLS
 VIII—TRAFFIC AND SHIPPING ROUTES
 By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

That the United States has been building for the future in the construction of the Panama canal is evidenced by a comparison between the amount of shipping in sight for the opening of the canal and the amount it can accommodate. The studies of Professor Emory R. Johnson, the traffic expert upon whose research the rates of toll have been fixed, indicate that the shipping which will use the canal in 1915 will approximate 10,500,000 net register tons. The ultimate capacity of the big waterway is 20,000,000 tons, or nearly eight times as much as there is in sight.

Professor Johnson concludes that the expansion of the business of the canal will go forward at the rate of about 50 per cent a decade. At that rate we will have 17,000,000 tons in 1925, 27,000,000 tons in 1935, 41,000,000 tons in 1945, and the maximum capacity in some 60 years. But even then the possibilities will not have been reached. An additional storage reservoir above Gamboa and another "track" of locks, making the lock part of the canal correspond to a triple track instead of a double track railway, will increase the capacity of the canal to a point far beyond the 10,000,000-ton mark.

There are different ideas as to how the United States should proceed in the matter of fixing tolls. Whatever disposition is made of the controversy, over the right of the United States to exempt coastwise traffic, it is but reasonable to expect that the United States will reckon the toll rate on a basis including American coastwise shipping, or else we would be placing greater burdens on the English shipping than upon our own. In other words, we may exempt the coastwise shipping from the payment of toll, but in the determination of the rate we certainly will have to include it.

Annual Cost $4,000,000.

In making this rate some think that only the actual cost of operation and maintenance ought to be considered. This will amount to about $4,000,000 a year—with an additional annuity of a quarter of a million dollars to the republic of Panama for our use of the canal zone. On this basis the rate of toll that would make the canal self-supporting from the beginning, assuming an initial tonnage of 10,500,000 tons, would be about 40 cents per register ton or less than 20 cents per cargo ton.

Others assume that we ought to fix a rate of toll that will afford us a fair interest on our investment. They regard 3 per cent as fair interest. That would bring the total up to $15,000,000 a year, and at the rate of toll fixed today—$1.20 per net register ton—the canal will begin to be self-supporting in about three years after its opening. Still others claim that even if item of expense in connection with the operation of the canal ought to be met by the tolls. They would add to the $15,000,000 the cost of protecting the canal, which would bring up the total approximately to $27,000,000. The estimate of the cost of protecting the canal contemplates an annual expenditure of $2,000,000 for coast artillery, $5,000,000 for infantry, $1,000,000 for field artillery and $1,200,000 for marines. On the basis of charging in these things as a part of the cost of maintaining the Panama waterway it would be about 20 years before the canal would become self-sustaining.

Graduated Rate Scale.

Even on that basis, which is not the basis upon which our present tolls are fixed, by the time the maximum capacity of the canal is reached, the United States could make a rate of less than 40 cents a net register ton. The basis of toll-fixing recommended by Professor Johnson is that which contemplates meeting the operating expenses, the interest on the investment, and the annual payment to Panama. Upon this basis, when the maximum capacity of the canal is reached, the United States could make a rate of 20 cents a ton and have enough left over ultimately to wipe out the cost of building the canal.

Professor Johnson thinks that we will get about $12,000,000 a year out of the canal when we open it, which will be brought up to $20,000,000 in 10 years—these figures including coastwise shipping. If coastwise shipping should be exempted from consideration as well as from the actual payment of tolls, the canal revenues would not make it self-supporting in the first decade. Leaving that traffic out of the reckoning, and considering only the foreign shipping, the revenues will start in at about $11,000,000 a year and will rise to about $17,000,000 by the end of the first decade. The rate of $1.20 a ton, net register, which has been fixed, is identical with that being made at Suez today. It is thought that in a few years Suez will put the rate below that point, and Professor Johnson thinks that we always will have to meet the Suez rate.

With the growth of traffic he thinks that the toll to be or below $1 a ton, and still permit the gradual repayment of the cost of building the canal. Beginning in 1925 he would start a plan of amortization that would repay the United States for the expense of building the canal in 100 years, by establishing a sinking fund of 1 per cent per year. At that time the revenues, based on all traffic would take care of maintenance and operation, government and sanitation, interest, the Panama annuity, and leaves $3,500,000 a year for the sinking fund.

Passengers Exempted.

There will be one item of revenue which the Suez canal will enjoy that the Panama canal will not. The former charges about two dollars for each passenger above 12 years old passing through it, and half fare for children above three years of age. Some three hundred thousand passengers go through the canal annually. The United States has exempted passengers from any charge, asserting that it amounts to a double charge when calculating the space they occupy as a part of the net tonnage of the ship carrying them.

The vast increase in the amount of traffic that is indicated to take place from decade to decade will be made up in two ways—through the natural expansion of business, on existing routes, and through the diversion of much traffic from other routes. It is through this diversion that a major portion of the early expansion will take place.

The first, and biggest, change will come when the American Hawaiian Steamship company sends its big fleet of ships through the canal instead of operating them in connection with the Tehuantepec railroad. The Mexican government is a stockholder in the American-Hawaiian Steamship company, but not having a controlling interest, it will see, perhaps, nine-tenths of its traffic wiped out at a single sweep. It will probably expand and make up the loss by the expansion of business and the securing of shipping that will not go through the canal in unbroken cargoes, but at first it will be a stunning blow.

The great Chilean nitrate port of Iquique will be brought 3,000 miles nearer New York than it is today, and the nitrate will almost certainly elect to take the Panama route instead of going through the Straits of Magellan. The nitrate business will be the heaviest single item of commerce passing through the canal. Most of Europe's nitrate will go the same way.

Panama Route Preferable.

The distances from Sydney, Australia, and Yokohama, Japan, are a little greater to Liverpool via Panama than via Suez. But it is expected that a large bulk of the trade of these two regions will prefer the Panama route over the Suez route. It will enable vessels engaged in the trade between the orient and the occident to avoid the excessive heat of the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aden, and the tempestuous storms of the Indian ocean. It will allow a ship, by going 50 miles (Continued on Page Eight)

SPORTING NEWS

PRACTICE AT C. C. STARTS IN FEW DAYS

If good weather prevails Colorado college track team candidates will be practicing in the field in a few days. Coach Rothgeb can get things lined up. The husky athletic director is a stickler for training and is anxious to get his pupils on the field to see what he will have lined up for the season.

Baseball will probably start about March 1. It is probable that the batting cage will not be used this year for that purpose, but will be placed as a backdrop for the fence hitters. The cage blew down last year when a terrific wind storm lifted off the top of the grandstand. Squads of college baseball players have been taking advantage of the sunny weather during the last few days for practice and already there seems to be much interest in the national sport.

INDOOR BASEBALL IS TRACED TO BOXING GLOVE AND BROOM

The origin of the game of indoor baseball will undoubtedly be of interest to the many followers of the sport in local circles.

On Thanksgiving day of 1887 in the gymnasium of the Farragut Boat club of Chicago, some of the members were "fooling" with an old boxing glove, carelessly throwing it about playing catch, when one of the players took up a broom and batted the glove. At the suggestion of George W. Hancock the participants started to play ball with a broomstick for a bat and a boxing glove for a ball. The experiment proved to be such fun that at the conclusion of the evening Hancock gathered the players around him and suggested that they meet on the following Saturday night, when he would prepare suitable rules and accessories for the sport.

On the night chosen, teams were picked and the two pioneer nines of what is now a nationwide sport enjoyed their first game of "indoor baseball," as the new sport was christened.

Sweden exported 35,000,000 pounds of matches in the six months ending with last June.

HOLY NAMES GOOD BETS FOR STATE INDOOR BALL TITLE

The Colorado indoor baseball championship will be decided Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, when the Holy Name team, winners of the local championship, meets the Denver Athletic club team. The H. N. S. are believed to be the strongest indoor team that has ever been developed in Colorado Springs and will put up a good battle with the Denverites.

The batting and fielding records of the Catholics are as follows:

I'amine of Pitchers Is Feared in Big Tents

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—One of the greatest problems facing the managers of National and American league clubs is the question of pitchers. There has been a dearth of recruiting material in all departments of baseball for two or three years. This has been increasing instead of decreasing, and is undoubtedly due to the fact that all of the 16 clubs were called upon to find young players to take the place of veterans who appeared to be "going back" at about the same time.

This depleted the ranks of the minor leagues of players of even fair ability. Infielders and outfielders have been scarce, but never before has there been such a lack of catchers and pitchers, particularly the latter.

"There isn't a club in either big league, with the possible exception of the Giants, which appears to be sufficiently fortified in this respect. The Giants have a strong first and a fair second string, but all of the other clubs could very easily use at least one and in many instances two and more good pitchers.

Giants Protected.
McGraw has done well in this respect, but he has been protecting the Giants against just such a contingency for several years. He has not waited for minor league managers to uncover pitchers of ability and develop them. Whenever "Mac" has had a chance to grab a youngster that appeared to have any ability at all, no matter how rough his work was as long as he possessed enough "stuff" to suggest even that he might make good with seasoning, McGraw has grabbed him, and "farmed" him out to some club where he could keep his eye on the youngster.

In this way the majority of the pitchers who are now drawing stipends from the New York baseball club have virtually been developed by McGraw himself. They have learned the kind of baseball that he wants them to know, and as his veterans have gone back he has managed to have at least one youngster to step into the breach.

This has been a fatal failing with many other leaders of major league nines. It is tedious work developing pitchers. It is hard enough to teach infielders how to play their positions and outfielders how to look after the gardens and catchers how best to receive and keep base runners from running wild on the paths, but to teach pitchers how to use their physical ability and develop their mental strength in a baseball way at the same time is about as stiff a proposition as anyone could be asked to meet and overcome.

Play Waiting Game.
The majority of managers have preferred to sit back and trust to luck that each season might find a young pitcher of extraordinary ability forcing his way through the minor leagues. Then they have been compelled to bid against many other clubs in the same

Powell-Doners Go Up Another Notch in Indoor League

The Powell-Doners went up another notch in their fight for second place in the city indoor baseball league by defeating the Blakes last night by the score of 8 to 3. The game was one sided. Menard's pitching was the feature, the classy twirler getting 20 strikeouts. St. John who was doing flinging duty for the Blakes had poor support and the team was weakened by the absence of several of the star players.

In addition to the state championship game Saturday night there will be another game Friday night between the Robblis and Holy Names. The scrap for second place is becoming quite interesting and with a pennant at stake all the teams are working hard. The Powell-Doners have been offered a banquet by their magnates if they clinch the second prize.

Two postponed games next week will close up the season.

Eight Johnsons Now in American League

CLEVELAND, Feb. 18.—Johnson is the name that will keep umpires and official scorers of the American league busy the coming season trying to straighten out. For the name Johnson (or Johnston) outranks the Smiths, Joneses and Browns, although there are still a good-sized representation of Browns in the league.

There were five Johnsons in the American league in 1907. Today there is only one, and whether he sticks in the top circuit or for the whole of the 1913 season is a mooted question. In 1907 the St. Louis Browns had Tom Jones on first base. He finished his career as a Detroit. In the game Jones, a pitcher.

The White Sox had Fielder Jones, greatest of all the famous family of that name, while the Washington team had Charley Jones, first American league player to reach home from second base on a sacrifice fly. Incidentally, the trick was turned against Cleveland on the home lot.

This year, Ban Johnson's circuit contains seven men by the name of Johnson or Johnston. Of this number Chicago has four. One is named Walter, and he also is a pitcher. Walter already has gone to the southwest to begin training, which evidently signifies that he's going after the peerless Washington twirler's honors. He comes from Racine, Wis.

Another Johnson to wear white hose the coming summer is Jimmy, a brother of Doc Johnson of the Naps. Jimmy is an outfielder. He hails from Bir-

LOWELL WINS GOLF CUP ON CALIFORNIA COURSE

By Charles Porter of Kansas, and Edward Johnson of Wisconsin, who declared that in order to have successful racing local conditions must be considered.

The measure finally was defeated. A ruling was adopted making it optional with race stewards to decide whether or not to allow the playing system or by making every heat a race. The point system allowing each horse a certain number of points for the position in which it finished, was in force last year. The playing system was used prior to 1912.

Another rule adopted provides that all fines shall go to injured or needy drivers. It was decided to dispense with the weighing of drivers or the carrying of weights this season.

Mrs. Ida Flazler, inmate of an asylum in New York, has an estate valued at $3,281,000 from which she is supported at an expense of $49,000 a year.

B. F. Lowell, a familiar figure on the links of the Colorado Springs Golf club, who left here some time ago presumably on a vacation trip, but really looking for new worlds to conquer, found what he was looking for at Long Beach, Cal.

According to word received here yesterday Lowell showed the Californians a few things about the ancient and royal pastime and incidentally added another loving cup to his collection. He won a tournament at Long Beach last week. Lowell has won a number of prizes at the total Golf club in the last year.

TROTTER ASS'N HOLDS STORMY BUSINESS SESSION

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—After a stormy session today a special meeting of the American Trotting association decided to permit stewards and promoters of harness race meetings held under the auspices of the association, a certain latitude in making local rules governing their meetings. The association limited this concession, however, by forbidding the adoption of any "local rules or bylaws which conflict with the rules of the association."

Hobbles may not be used on racing horses three years old and under, according to a ruling made today. A resolution was adopted expressing the thanks of the association to C. K. G. Billings for taking Union and the Harvester to Europe last year and giving foreign horsemen a chance to see these animals in action.

The first clash in the meeting today came on the question of the admission of proxy votes. The proxies finally were admitted.

A strenuous fight was made for the adoption of a rule forbidding stewards and promoters from amending the rules to suit local conditions. This proposal was violently opposed

RICH STRIKE MADE IN DISTRICT OF PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, Colo., Feb. 18.—One of the richest strikes of gold and silver ever reported in the Pitkin mine territory has just been made by Pitkin strikers on one of the claims of the Fremont lode. Three assays have been made which averaged 55.2 ounces of gold and 1,162 ounces of silver, or average value of $1,329.53 per ton. The Fremont is located at the head of a strong gulch and is in what is called the "lime belt." The ore is reported to have been found in dolomitic limestone. An incline had been sunk on the claim several years ago to the depth

"Vir" Camembert

Camembert Cheese has justly been called "the crowning event of a good dinner." Its peculiar richness is due to the fact that it is not pressed after being drained, as are most cheeses. It is cured and salted with great care and turned twice a day until ripe for the market.
"Vir" Camembert Cheese is imported direct from Calvados, France, from whence come the finest cheeses today. It is packed in the original, easily opened cover, which retains its freshness direct to your table. 85 cents a tin.

Woman's Greatest Trouble

Big Sandy, Tenn.—Mrs. Lucy Cantrell, of this place, says: "Every two weeks I had to go to bed and stay there several days. I suffered untold misery. Nothing seemed to help me, until I tried Cardui, the woman's tonic. Although I had been afflicted with womanly weaknesses for seven years, Cardui helped me more than anything else ever did. It is surely the best tonic for women on earth. Weakness is woman's greatest trouble. Cardui is woman's greatest medicine, because it overcomes that weakness and brings back strength. In the past 50 years, Cardui helped over a million women. Try it for your troubles today. Adv.

News of Local Courts

SEARS FOUND GUILTY

A jury in Justice Gowdy's court yesterday returned a verdict of guilty against E. H. Sears, charged with beating the Antlers hotel out of a board bill amounting to $54.10. He was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and to pay a fine of $50 and costs. As Sears is without funds he will work out the fine in jail and will remain there for about 100 days.

George Berry will be arraigned in Justice Gowdy's court this afternoon on a charge of vagrancy.

A jury was impaneled late yesterday afternoon in the district court in the suit of William Lyle against the Lake George Development Co. for $5,000 personal injury damages. Lyle alleges that he sustained permanent injuries in an ice conveyor at the company's plant.

W. M. Barr was awarded $600, and Edward R. Ripley, $633.33 damages, by a jury in the district court yesterday in a condemnation proceedings brought by the city of Colorado City against them for right-of-way through their property for extension of Twelfth street from Washington avenue to Lincoln avenue.

Because the defendant is active in the suffragette movement and cannot appear at the trial at present, Judge Morris yesterday struck from the district court trial calendar the suit of J. M. Husing against Mrs. A. H. Pitzer, sister-in-law of Champ Clark, speaker of the house of representatives. The suit is to enforce a lien. It was represented to the court that Mrs. Pitzer is with the marching suffragettes.

District Judge Morris yesterday set Friday, February 22, as the date to hear arguments on the report of the referee in the suit of Dr. J. G. Hollingsworth against Edward P. Tutts of New York. Hollingsworth claims that he provided funds several years ago to enable Tutts to locate mining claims in Mexico. It is said that Tutts made millions from the mines, and a referee who reported to the district court some time ago awarded Hollingsworth a large interest.
